

Performance Commentary

Global equities continued to perform well in October and the fund delivered a decent return in absolute terms, but lagged the benchmark. The main contributors were Omega Protein, X-Fab and AIG. We initiated our position in US-based Omega Protein when the fund was launched, and it has since been a strong contributor. We have trimmed and added to the position several times. We increased the position in late summer as an activist entered the shareholder register, and in October the company received a cash bid from a private Canadian company at a 32% premium. We liquidated most of the position at this level. Our increased Japanese exposure also yielded a positive return, mainly thanks to strong performance from Softbank and Bank of Kyoto. On the negative side, the long-awaited approval of generic competition for Copaxone continued to put pressure on our reduced position in Teva. We trimmed our positions in Softbank, Alphabet and Taiheiyo Cement after strong performance and exited automotive seat supplier Adient during the month as the stock reached our target price. The equity re-rated more than 60% during our holding period. During the month, we initiated two new positions in Brazilian sugar and ethanol producer Sao Martinho and in Japanese automotive supplier Tachi-S.

The fund is a concentrated global equity fund with a mandate to invest in all cap-sizes, geographies and sectors globally. With our concentrated portfolio of 30-35 core positions, we aim to generate absolute returns at a controlled level of absolute risk.
