

Performance Commentary

During the month, US equity markets displayed further weakness, which resulted in a correction for the S&P 500 Index of almost 10%, following record levels in September. While the US market turbulence also resonated globally, the recent correction has uncovered several opportunities and given rise to unwarranted attractive price points. Signs of a weaker outlook across industrial and cyclical assets have been emerging in this reporting season and the substantial divergence between the US equity market and large areas of the global equity market outside the US is gradually narrowing. Accordingly, our assets in Emerging Markets held up quite well as we witnessed strong performance in South African Gold Fields and Brazil-based ethanol and sugar producer Sao Martinho. The latter rallied following a rise in the underlying sugar price. Despite our relatively limited US equity exposure, some of our domestic holdings suffered from the overall decline and poor sentiment. Two examples are AIG and Avaya Holdings, despite the absence of new fundamental information. We used the broad based declines to initiate two new positions in the fund and re-engage some of our US holdings such as Viacom, Hawaiian Holdings, Avya and ADT. We initiated new positions in German "Do-It-Yourself" retailer Hornbach Holding and Japanese staffing company Pasona.

The fund is a concentrated global equity fund with a mandate to invest in all cap-sizes, geographies and sectors globally. With our concentrated portfolio of 30-35 core positions, we aim to generate absolute returns at a controlled level of absolute risk.
