

Performance Commentary

Following the excess sell-off during the latter part of last year, the fund rebounded strongly. The sharp global equity correction provided us with a solid opportunity to reposition the fund, and ca. 50% of the fund's positions are less than one year old at the start of 2019.

Our recently added holding in Canadian copper miner Ivanhoe reported a new unprecedented intersection of copper in one of its assets. This, in combination with a rising copper price, propelled the share price higher. Our biggest contributor in the month, however, was US-based chicken producer Pilgrim's Pride. The US and China are seeking to draw up a new trade deal whereby there are discussions about reopening US chicken exports into China. There has been a ban on such exports since 2015 and a reopening could unlock substantial revenue possibilities. Another contributor was Hawaiian Holdings, following reassuring guidance for the coming quarters and as the US government shutdown ironically postponed a competitors' launch into Hawaii. Our cash position increased as we scaled down holdings approaching price targets, including German food retailer Metro and South African gold-miner Gold Fields. We continued to build our positions in Australian copper and gold miner OZ Minerals.
