

Performance Commentary

Emerging market equities underperformed developed markets as Chinese growth expectations were revised downwards following recent regulatory tightening. Inflationary pressures continued to build as energy prices rose further leading to monetary tightening in many emerging economies. Among the fund's contributors, Chinese internet companies rebounded on abating regulatory noise, which helped our recent investment in Alibaba and long-term holding Prosus. Copper producer Ivanhoe Mines also performed well as phase 1 production in its flagship Kamoakakula project in DRC ramps up and phase 2 expansion runs ahead of schedule. The main detractors were mostly recent high-flyers. LG Electronics continued to deliver strong top line growth, but the market is becoming increasingly concerned by margin headwinds due to rising commodity prices. We do not share these concerns, given LG's strong market positions and innovation pipeline. Margins also came under short-term pressure at Indian crop solutions company UPL, but we expect UPL to outperform its guidance as it continues to add value to farmers globally. The market sell-off last quarter and SKAGEN Kon-Tiki's underperformance during it, have left the portfolio trading at an unwarranted discount to our estimate of fair value and the opportunity-set available to us. As a result, we made no changes to the portfolio during the month and will patiently wait for the market to recognise its true value.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies, mainly in emerging economies.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
